

Taken from an original oil painting by the noted cowboy artist and poet, L. H. "Dude" Larsen.

The ever changing panorama of rich and accurately colored landscape, with all the harmonizing and complimentary colors from the master palette of the Great Creator, it is no exaggeration to say that there is more variation in color and formation in this area than any other place of its size in the world. Hunting, fishing, pack trips, hiking and picnicking await you here, properly flavored with true western hospitality.
